

THANK YOU FOR YOUR ORDER

Welcome.

Here's what happens now.

You've just bought a website, and the only thing standing between you and it is a handful of answers. Fill in page two, send it back through Etsy Messages, and I'll start the same day.

The timeline

- 01 You send this back
Page two, plus your logo and photos if you have them. Nothing needs to be perfect.
- 02 I confirm within a few hours
I'll tell you if anything's missing, and confirm the delivery date.
- 03 You get a live preview link
A real, working site you can open on your phone — not a picture of one.
- 04 You ask for changes
Send them in one message where you can. Your package includes revisions.
- 05 I hand over everything
All the files, yours to keep. I'll help you put it online if you'd like.

Don't have your text or photos ready? Order anyway and send what you've got. I can write placeholder copy that reads properly and swap in your words later, and I can work from your Instagram photos.

The questionnaire

Type your answers into a reply, or print this and photograph it — whichever is easier. Short answers are completely fine.

1. Business name, and what you do — one line is plenty

2. Who are your customers? — who walks in, who buys

3. Which of the five designs do you want? — Verano, Lacquer, Halo, Ora or Fig & Vine

4. What should the site do first? — get bookings, sell products, show a menu, take enquiries

5. Pages or sections you need

6. Brand colours — or "use the design's"

7. Do you have a logo?

8. Domain name — if you have one

9. Where should enquiries go?

10. Two or three websites you like the look of — any industry

11. Anything you definitely don't want

What to send with it

- Your logo — any format. PNG with a transparent background is ideal; a photo of a business card works if that's all you have.
- Photos — of your work, your space, your products. Straight from your phone is fine. Instagram photos are fine.
- Words — an About paragraph, service names and prices, opening hours, address.
- Links — your Instagram, Facebook, existing site, booking system.

Send them however is easiest — attached to an Etsy message, a Google Drive link, a WeTransfer link. If a file is too big for Etsy, a link is fine.

A few honest notes

- Photos matter more than you'd think. The single biggest difference between a site that looks expensive and one that doesn't is picture quality. Daylight, clean background, hold the phone still.
- Less text reads better. If you're torn between a paragraph and a sentence, send the sentence.
- Tell me what you don't like. It's more useful than being polite, and it's faster for both of us.
- The clock starts when your answers land, not when you order — so send them whenever you're ready.

Questions before we start?

Message me through Etsy. I answer everything, including "is this the right package for me?" — I'd rather move you to a cheaper option than sell you the wrong thing.

One small ask, at the end

If you're happy with how it turns out, a review makes a real difference to a small shop. And if something isn't right, message me first — that's what the revisions are for, and I'd always rather fix it.
